May Day Tomorrow

The first May day celebration given entirely by William and Mary students will be held on the campus in front of the library tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Wales is directing the entire celebration and has drilled the girls in May day dances. The costumes have been made by the girls taking part. Mary O. Parker will be May queen.

The senior girls will lead the procession with a daisy chain, followed by the queen, her attendants and the court entertainers.

Grecian frieze dances, village group dances, and a Spanish pantomime will be included in the program, with the May pole dance in gala costume as a grand finale.

A feature of the program will be the planting of a memorial tree in front of the library by the senior class. The daisy chain will lead the procession to the place where the tree is to be planted.

Miss Wales and the students taking part have perfected the program and the indications are that the celebration will be a complete success.

In the event of rain tomorrow the celebration will be held Monday at the same hour.

Varsity Off For Jaunt Up North

Immediately after the Wake Forest game last Tuesday the William and Mary baseball team, including ten players, manager and coach, left for their annual northern trip. Although the present trip does not cover as much territory as have previous ones, it is considered by many to be the best ever undertaken by a nine representing this institution in the calibre of opponents that are to be met.

Going first to Easton, Pa., the Indians engage Lafayette on Wednesday, returning to Washington the following day, where they have a three-

Mrs. Fain Speaks To Dist. Teachers

The teacher's contribution to legislative reform was the subject discussed by Mrs. Sarah Lee Fain, member of the State Legislature from Norfolk, at the annual meeting of the teachers of District C, State Teachers' Association, at the College of William and Mary last Saturday. "Educating Virginia to bring about proper legislation is the biggest task before the State," Mrs. Fain declared.

Declaring for a simplified government and for tax equalization, Mrs. Fain deplored sectionalism within the State and urged a close co-operation between all parts of the Commonwealth. She said that teachers must have a glowing sense of dynamic citizenship if they are to teach the kind of practical civics which will be impressed permanently upon the minds and pupils and indirectly influence the attitude of parents. "You can't do much with the grown-ups of today," she stated, "but you can do a great deal with the boys and girls who are to be citizens, perhaps the legislators, of tomorrow."

Among the other speakers were Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Professor H. C. Krebs, of William and Mary; George W. Guy, Secretary of the Co-operative Education Association; Miss Lula D. Metz, President of the State Teachers Association; C. J. Heatwole, Editor of the Virginia Journal of Education, and Miss Virginia Fox, of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, State Department of Health.

"Kempy" Presented For Equipment Fund

The Drama Class (English 235) will present in Cameron Hall, Monday, May 26, 1924, at 8:00 p. m., for the benefit of the baseball equipment fund, "Kempy," a three-act comedy, by J. C. Nugent and Elliott Nugent.

"Kempy," which has just had a run of over a year on Broadway, snaps with wit and humor of the most delightful kind. It is a small town folk play perfectly pictured. The story is about a highfalutin' daughter who in a fit of pique married the young plumber-architect, who comes to fix the water pipes, just because he "understands" her, having read her book and having sworn to marry the authoress. But in that story lies all

Arrangements Made For Final Dances

Arrangements for the final dances have about been completed by the Cotillion Club, and the officers of the club are now working on the lesser details for the occasion.

At these dances, according to announcement by President Watkins, of Cotillion Club, Alumni will be admitted free of charge. For club members the charge will be $2.00 per dance, or $5 for the three, provided payment is made on or before May 30. For non-members the price will be $2.50 per dance straight, and for non-students $3.00 per dance straight.

As at the Easter hops, all visitors will be admitted only on invitation, and as guests of club members. Each member will be held responsible for the conduct of guests here on his invitation.

Music for the dances will be furnished by the famous Mason-Dixon orchestra, of Clarksburg, West Virginia. They come highly recommended, and there is every reason to believe that the music will be on a par with that of any orchestra that ever played here.

The dances will be held on the nights of June 9, 10 and 11.

Field Mass To Be Read Here May 25

The Knights of Columbus have arranged to celebrate a memorial field mass on the college campus on May 25. Representatives from Richmond, Norfolk and Portsmouth will attend, while the Newport News council will come in a body. All the plans made seem to indicate that the ceremony is to be a solemn and impressive one. The students are invited to attend, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to witness the impressive ceremony performed so often during the war under most trying conditions.

The service will begin promptly at 10:45, the Rev. L. J. Koester officiating, and the Gibbons' Club will attend in a body. Students are cordially invited to be present.

Co-Ed Dance Tonight

Woe be to those poor swains who have "snooted" the co-eds for weeks and weeks, for Friday is here, and with it the co-ed dance. Saturday night helped prospects considerably and many eds were heard to suggest that a rush at the co-ed would be heavenly.

This is the third German Club dance of the season, and as far as rushes are concerned, is expected to be the best. Many out-of-town stags will be on hand as guests of the German Club.

One of the delightful features of the evening will be refreshments, served at intermission.

The gymnasium will be attractively decorated in crepe paper and balloons of spring colors. The music will be furnished by the Old Dominion orchestra of Richmond.

Indians Romp Away With Bridgewater

The Indians staged a considerable comeback Friday, and hammered two Bridgewater pitchers for a total of eighteen hits and fifteen runs, taking the long end of the 15-3 score. The home club started the ball rolling in the first, scoring one run, to follow in the second with an equal dose, and piled up five tallies in the third. In the seventh the entire team went on a batting rampage, coming down to earth at its end with a total of nine hits and eight runs for the frame, one of which was a circuit clout by Westbrook, with two on.

Slim Richmond, on the mound for the varsity, held the visitors to three scattered hits until the eighth, when a triple and two singles netted the Bridgewater lads their only tallies of the game.

The entire Indian nine displayed a marked reversal of form, perhaps more than in any game on the home grounds this season. The four errors came at times when they were least costly.

The batting of the entire team was commendable, Andy Gump's home-run being the feature of the melee, while Moss with a triple and two singles is worthy of mention. In fielding Moss and Todd furnished the thrills with some beautiful long catches of what seemed sure hits. For the visitors, Cline, the diminutive backstop, did creditable work, while at bat C. May led, with three of their seven hits. Garber accounted for a triple.

Indian Harriers Defeat Trinity

On a slow, muddy track, the Indian harriers last Thursday easily defeated the trackmen of Trinity College, by the score of 77 1-6 to 48 5-6. The Indians took eight out of fourteen first places, while the high jump was split between the two schools.

The William and Mary team was especially strong in the dashes and the runs. They cleaned up in the 440 and the 880, and the broad jump, taking all three places in each. Trinity took three places in the discus on account of the inability of Smith, of William and Mary, to stay in the circle.

Hoof, William and Mary sprinter, stepped the 100-yard dash in the fast time of 10:1, this time being especially good considering the track. In Moss and Hoof Coach Jones has two very good men, especially in the 220.

Redmon, of Trinity, was high point man of the meet, with ten points, winning both the mile and the two-mile.

Summary:

SPORTS

CINDER-DIAMOND

In Taylor, Coach Jones has the making of a second Tightly Moore, when it comes to throwing the javelin. In the Trinity meet Taylor hurled this discarded implement of Greek warfare 166' 6", which is a mighty fine throw for any college meet, and incidentally this was practically the first time he had ever attempted this event, his time being confined to baseball. Under Coach Jones' tutory he should develop in the best in the State, in this event within the next two years.

* * * *

Tuesday night the women's basketball team was presented with silver basketballs and also with the standard W. & M. Monogram. It seems that some distinction should be made between the women's letter and that awarded to the men making the varsity teams. We use the word varsity for the reason that the men's tennis team is not awarded the standard varsity letter, but now they seem to have a perfect right to it. It would seem that the Co-Eds on their own part would desire some distinction to be made between their monogram and that of the men's.

* * * *

In the four games on the baseball trip the Indian nine face three of the best teams in the country, in Lafayette, Quantico Marines and Georgetown. The pitching of Richmond, against Bridgewater, put a lot of fight in the team and with this lanky twirler in the box the team should give a good account of itself.

* * * *

Andy Westbrook's home run last Friday against Bridgewater was one of the longest hits ever made on the new field. It netted the tall third baseman a pass to the Palace for the rest of the season, the only trouble being that it should have come earlier in the season to enhance its value.

* * * *

Tomorrow the track team journeys to Richmond for the annual track meet with the Spiders. By winning this meet the team will decide the athletic standing of the two rivals for the year, as W. & M. won in football, basketball was a tie, and Richmond won in baseball, so track is the deciding issue.

* * * *

The track team will have to take advantage of points in the dual meet to defeat the Spiders. Richmond this season has the best team in the history of the school, having excellent material in every running event and also in the broad high jumps. W. & M. will have to concentrate on the field events for the majority of their points, but at that you never can tell what will happen in a race.

Track Teams Goes Richmond Tomorrow

Coach Jones takes his track squad to Richmond for the annual dual meet between the Indians and Spiders tomorrow. He will in all probability take every man that has been out for the team who has shown any ability at all, as third places are very likely to decide the outcome of tomorrow's meet. Possibly the feature of the meet will be the 100-yard dash, when Hoof, the Indian sprinter, and Goode, the Spider speed king, hook up.

For the last three years the Indians have lost to the Spiders in the annual meet by a narrow margin, in 1921 the score being 58 to 68. In 1922 the score was 66 to 60, and last year the Indians lost by the slight margin of 64 to 62. Each year we are gaining.

Sweetbriar Defeats Girl Racketeers

The Girls' tennis team of William and Mary met defeat at the hands of the Sweetbriar racketeers on the courts of Randolph-Macon at Lynchburg Monday, losing every match to the Sweetbriar girls.

Due to the bad weather of the past few days, the match could not be played on clay courts, the concrete courts at Lynchburg having to be used instead. This is no doubt responsible for the local players not making a better showing.

In the singles, Miss Moody played a much better game than the score would indicate. Considering the fact that she was pitted against the Southern champion and unaccustomed to a concrete court, considerable credit is due her for the showing she made. Miss Reinhold, who opposed Miss Wilkeens, is also an exceptionally good player, but not so steady as Miss Ford.

Following is the score by matches: Miss Ford, Sweetbriar, defeated Miss Moody 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Rheinhold, Sweetbriar, defeated Miss Wilkeens 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Kohler and Miss Van Cocke, Sweetbriar, defeated Miss Kent and Miss Jane Moss, 6-3, 6-1.

Wake Forest Sends Indians To Defeat

Bunching their hits in the first and sixth innings, Wake Forest defeated the William and Mary nine here Tuesday by the score of 7 to 2, in a fast game. Arnette, Edwards and Armstrong accounted for seven of the nine safeties garnered by the Baptists, and playing a stellar game in the infield, were the outstanding stars for the visitors.

After scoring three runs on three hits, Wake Forest was unable to touch Lane, Indians' moundsman, until the sixth frame, when they again hooked him for three safeties. Elmore relieved Lane in the sixth and allowed the Baptists only one run in the remaining four innings.

Hicks, with a three-bagger; Parsons, with two singles, and Lane's two singles in two trips to the plate, were best at the bat for the Indians.

Timberlake, in centerfield for the Baptists, checked two Indian rallies in the fifth and sixth frames, when he snagged two long drives by Hicks with two men on.

The Indians left here for Easton, Pa., where they will meet Lafayette College, returning to Quantico Wednesday to clash with the Marines.

NEW BOOKS

In the chapter on courtship, we learn that the language of flowers is a touching sentiment, and an important one, too, for Mr. Stewart gives the case of a young gentleman who was socially ostracized because he sent his lady love a bouquet of cowslips, not knowing that in floral parlance it was equivalent to "Goodness, but you danced like a cow at the dance last night; I see myself taking you anywhere again." A fringed gentian signifies, "Goodbye, I've gone out for a shave. Be back again at 3:30," and a tube-rose means, "Meet me at the Fourteenth Street subway today at lunch." A combination of flowers, though, conveys a meaning all its own. Three tube-roses together with a spray of Virginia creeper signifies, "The reason I didn't come yesterday was because I had three inner tube punctures in that second-hand car I got down in Virginia last fall."

The engagement announcement should be a total surprise to all the guests, so it is well to put some sort of misleading statement on the invitations as, "To meet General Pershing," or "Not to announce the engagement of our daughter." Clever announcements may be carried out symbolically as for instance: Mr. Ames and Miss Green—A man dressed in green with gun in hand aiming at something.

Gordon-Fuller — Two paper-mache figures, one a man full of Gordon gin; the other, a man fuller.

Colgate-Graves—Representation of a man brushing his teeth in a cemetery.

"Eating," we are told in the chapter on table manners: "Eating is one of our oldest customs as a human race." And as to the niceties of the ancient custom:

"Practical jokes, such as jerking the chair out from under one's hostess, are now passe, as are such playful things as kicking one's dinner partner under the table and gleefully demanding, 'Guess Who.'"

Some clever rhymlets to apprise guests of their faux pas in a tactful, clever way, are:

"The boys with Polly will not frolic, Because she's eaten too much garlic."

And—

"Soup is eaten with a spoon But not to any haunting tune."

Finally, as to correspondence, that priceless art, it is suggested that a coat of arms on one's stationery is an immeasurable aid. Good taste should be the criterion of the design, but the letter writer is thoughtfully warned against choosing some too well known crest, such as the coat of arms of Great Britain or of the United States.—M. B. V.

Spanish Books Here

The books purchased in part with money raised by the Spanish Club have arrived at the library. Of about forty volumes the majority are in Spanish, but many of them are translations of the best modern fiction, which will be of interest to students in general.

Among the Spanish books there are a number of standard literary histories and critical studies which will be a great aid to students of Spanish; also, a very useful book of Spanish synonyms and English and Spanish idiom equivalents in translation.

About thirty more volumes are expected within a few days, which will include translation from such recent authors as Blasco Ibanez, Pio Baroja, Perez Galdos, and Pardo Bazan, and also translations of Spanish poetry.

Notice!

There has been received at the Flat Hat office a pamphlet sent out by Marshall Field and Company, of Chicago, containing an article by James Simpson, President of that firm, reprinted from the Yale Daily News.

This pamphlet is entitled "Business and the College Man," and is a discussion of the opportunity in commercial pursuits for the young man who has had the advantage of college training. The pamphlet sets forth in a general way the opportunities offered the college man in the world of business, and contains many valuable suggestions for one who, just out of college, is face to face with the problem of choosing his place in life.

It goes into some detail as regards the present-day intricacies in the organization of big business, and contains a number of hints to the college man who chooses big business as his career.

This pamphlet is at the office of the Flat Hat, and is at the disposal of any student who may wish to read it.

The April Magazine

Mystery and horror, interspersed with occasional articles and poems, wherein nature figures largely, go to make up the April number of the Literary Magazine. Yet, with all this, it is an exceptionally good number. Perhaps this is because the pedantic articles and colorless stories are being superseded by more original and definite ones.

For the most part, the verse has a sameness about it. With nature and kindred themes for models, the authors chant indiscriminately of flowers, days, life, love, etcetera. Freshness of treatment is decidedly lacking. And the sonnets show laborious rather than finished workmanship.

"Broken Links" and "It" are excellent stories, the writers having successfully caught the Poe spirit. Also, the articles are more interesting.

The departments of Who's Who, Alumni, Exchange and Book Reviews are well organized by now and all show constructive work.

In short, the magazine is developing a personality.

Spanish Club Elects

At the meeting of the Spanish Club, May 9, the following officers were elected for 1924-25:

President—Ruth Dew.
Vice-President—Paul Moore.
Secretary—Elizabeth Palmer.
Treasurer—Louise Sale.
Reporter—Virginia Hardy.

Jamestown Day Observed Tuesday

Simple exercises in the college chapel last Tuesday on the 317th anniversary of the landing of the first settlers in Virginia, marked the annual celebration of that great event by the College of William and Mary. A speech by Professor John Leslie Hall, on "The Meaning of Jamestown Today," was the chief feature of the occasion.

Dr. Hall told of the faithful work of the college in keeping alive the spirit of love for America's cradle of liberty through the long years, when it was forgotten by the rest of the country in its forward movement. Deploring the lack of knowledge about the early settlers, Dr. Hall stated that not until recently has it been settled that the name of one of the pioneer carrying ships was "Sarah Constant," instead of "Susan Constant," and a half dozen other wrong names. Even now one of the ships is known both as "Goodspeed" and "Godspeed," while the "Discovery" alone has retained one name.

After he came to the college in 1888, Dr. Hall took his classes in Virginia history on an annual pilgrimage to the historic spot on the James river. Speaking of these celebrations of the past century, he said that thousands of people from all over the State came to worship at the birthplace of their State and nation and a student of the college made the oration of the occasion. Some of these orators became famous and their speeches made history for the college. It is the heritage of William and Mary to keep alive the memory of the past, said Dr. Hall, and she should hold it sacred.

President Chandler spoke on the methods of recording early history of the colony, calling particular attention to the failure of historians to give the women of the Jamestown settlement due credit for the great part which they played in making the venture successful. The importance of this first settlement is immeasurable to the world, he said, for more has been done in the 317 years since that time than was ever done in all the time before the epoch making event.

Alma Mater's Author

Doubtless very few students know who wrote our "Alma Mater," and so the Flat Hat publishes the following sketch of its author, furnished by an alumnus who is now attending the University of Virginia:

James Southall Wilson was born at Bacon's Castle, in Surry County, Virginia, in 1883. He received the B. A. degree from William and Mary in 1904. He afterwards attended Princeton where he was graduated with the Doctor's degree in English. He was professor of History and English in the College of William and Mary from 1907 to 1919, when he became Poe Professor of English at the University of Virginia. His specialties are the English novel and Poe.

Among his works may be mentioned "Alexander Wilson, Poet Naturalist," and "Alma Mater." He is joint editor of "The Enchanted Years," a book of contemporary verse. He has composed a considerable amount of poetry.

He holds membership in the Modern Language Association of America, and in the American Historical Association. He is a member of Kappa Sigma, of the Raven Society, and Phi Beta Kappa. He is a Christian gentleman, a learned scholar and a loyal son of William and Mary.

Article by Smith In Sewanee Review

An article entitled "Folk Songs of the American Negro," by Joseph H. Smith, Instructor in the Department of English, appeared in the April issue of the Sewanee Review, a literary quarterly review published by the University of the South. This periodical is a review which publishes mostly articles of a sociological and literary character, and due to the high standards which it maintains, its acceptance of articles for publications is considered to be quite complimentary to the writers of such articles.

Mr. Smith's article treats at length of the nature and origin of the negro folk songs of America, and is the result of considerable research and first hand investigation and observation.

the humor that keeps the audience laughing every second of every act. Of course, there are lots of ramifications, each of which bears its own brand of laughter-making potentials.

The play will be presented by the Drama Class under the general direction of Assistant Professor Irving H. White.

The proceeds from the presentation of "Kempy" will go to the purchase of baseball equipment, and Professor W. T. Hodges will attend to the distribution of tickets the latter part of this week in order to insure a large audience on the evening of May 26th.

Every student in College realizes the necessity for raising the baseball equipment fund as speedily as possible, and should, therefore, consider it a duty to attend this show.

VARSITY OFF ON JAUNT UP NORTH

day sojourn in the capital and vicinity, meeting the Marines in Quantico Thursday, and Georgetown and Catholic universities in Washington today and tomorrow.

William and Mary and Lafayette divided the two game series played in 1922, the Indians taking the first game at Williamsburg, 5 to 4, and Lafayette capturing the second at Easton by the score of 4 to 1. Lafayette was not met last year, so the locals know little of the caliber of baseball dispensed by the Pennsylvanians. Nevertheless, the season's records show that Lafayette has a decided edge on William and Mary, and Coach Tasker's proteges must play faultless ball to cope with them successfully.

The Indians, knowing the caliber of the Marine diamond tossers, will surely strike a tartar at Quantico unless they set a dizzy pace. The slugging Marines split their series with William and Mary last season, but the "Devil Dogs" have not yet tasted defeat this year.

The games with Georgetown and Catholic University mark the revival of baseball relations after a lapse of five years. The Indians suffered a setback at the hands of Georgetown at their last meeting; and are out to alter the status of things, but they realize that stellar playing alone can bring them victory over the strong Capital City outfit.

It is an invariable rule that William and Mary baseball nines show their wares to better advantage on the road than at home, and even the Marines' impressive record can not be taken for granted against them.
